

I am adamantly opposed to allowing Quest or any other Internet infrastructure provider to limit or deny access to their system by any ISP or other internet access provider. This change would only serve to severely limit or deny me and many others access to the information and capabilities that have already become a major part of our lives. I can also forecast only havoc and loss by the commercial entities that now depend on the internet for much or all of their revenue.